Protecting your devices and technology

As technology advances and costly devices have become prevalent throughout the workplace, it is increasingly important to keep track of them, prevent fraudulent sales and protect the data they contain.

Corporate asset management

Mobile phones, laptops and other portable tech allow your business to run as smoothly remotely as it does in the office. And while there are many benefits to gearing up your employees to work remotely, there is also an increased risk associated with devices which are no longer locked to the office desk.

Employee theft

The second-hand market is becoming ever more attractive and over 10,000 employee thefts across England and Wales were recorded between 2014 and 2016*. These were only the thefts that were recognised but in many cases companies don't even realise that employee device theft and fraud is even an issue.

How AssetWatch can work for you

AssetWatch is an asset monitoring tool which relies on a unique and comprehensive eco-system of device data.

This eco-system is accessed by law enforcement, insurers, network operators, recyclers and traders through industry-specific platforms to gain intelligence about a specific electronic device.

Endorsed and recommended by national governing bodies of the second-hand market, the ecosystem aggregates a comprehensive view of trading activity throughout the UK, allowing AssetWatch to provide early-warning alerts when a company device is offered for trade without consent. For example, if an employee tries to trade a company mobile phone to a second-hand trader, a simple check by the trader can alert us to the illegal trade and could prevent the trade from happening.

Getting started is easy

Provide device serial numbers

All you need to do to take advantage of the service is provide a list of the serial numbers (IMEIs or ESNs) of your company devices as often as once a day and we will check them against the 4 million+ devices which we see offered for trade each month.

Alerts

If there is a match with one of your devices, we provide overnight alerts that include the details of the device, location and time it was offered for trade allowing you to take mitigation action within 24 hours.

Benefits of AssetWatch

Using AssetWatch to monitor your company devices will provide you with intelligence to:

1. Identify potentially fraudulent employees through trading alerts of their company allocated device.
2. Deter potentially fraudulent or dishonest employees from defrauding you and thus reducing the risk of:
 - The cost of a device being stolen and traded illegally.
 - Any sensitive data on a device being leaked into the public domain.
3. Prevent the devices of honest employees which have genuinely been lost or stolen from being traded.
